Overview

Shraddha is a competent and dynamic professional with a distinguished and insightful exposure of 15 years focusing on intellectual property, patents – prosecution, contentious and licensing. She is adept in all areas of patent law, from drafting, searching and analysis to prosecution at the Indian patent office. She has also continuously supported litigation matters at the various High Courts.

Her practice covers many technology areas, including Artificial Intelligence, Consumer Appliances and Electronics, Data Storage and Software Solutions, Hybrid Vehicles, Internet-Of-Things (IoT), Medical Devices, Renewable Energy, Semiconductor Assemblies, and Telecommunications (including 3G, 4G and 5G).

She is also specialized in conducting Essentiality Evaluation of Patents conforming to standards for several telecommunication bodies and is acting as a LEAD EVALUATOR for IPEC.

In addition, she is proficient in advising and drafting various Patent License/Technology

Transfer/Technical Know-how license Agreements and Contracts. Before entering the legal profession, she worked for one year and eight months in engineering, research and development of optical media, storage devices and photovoltaic products in MOSERBAER INDIA LTD.

Shraddha engages in thought leadership activities and writes for various leading IP publications. Some of her published works include:

- Managing IP (India Edition 2014) – ‘How to use Patent law and Competition law in tandem’
